About Far From Home

Far From Home brings to the stage the humanity of told and untold stories by voices not always heard. The piece explores the topic of immigration and the consequences the search for "a better life" has for those forced to seek it due to social or political devastations. Performed by 6 professional dance artists and a local supporting cast made up of non-professional movers, the performance ensemble will highlight the emotional and mental stresses of migrant families, as well as the impact on communities where migrants "settle", as the meaning of tolerance and practice of integration is unpicked.
